Firstly I want to say is teh code works perfectly. The question is why I'm getting that error. Please guys help me on this. Thank you. A: You should not have 6 notations before each statement, it is easier to read if they're written between the statements. Like this: `while(!line.charAt(0).equals("#") || (!line.charAt(0).equals("1"))) { line=br.readLine();` I also see you are using `==` with `charAt`, it is usually better to use `equals`. This: `line=br.readLine(); if(line.charAt(0).equals("#") || line.charAt(0).equals("1"))` Should be like this: `if(line.charAt(0).equals("#") || line.charAt(0).equals("1"))` It is better to code it like this, even if its a small change: `while(!line.charAt(0).equals("#") || (!line.charAt(0).equals("1"))) { if (line.charAt(0).equals("#")) { line=br.readLine(); } else { line=br.readLine(); } }` Q: Is there a way to pipe grep output to another command line utility? I have the following command: `grep -r ".log" | xargs -I{} basename {} | cut -f 1,2,3,6` Which looks like: `+ grep -r ".log" 3e33713323`
